The New Golden Eyed Wax Bean is not yet thoroughly known to the people who plant Beans, at least they do not know the good qualities it contains. It is an early, vigorous growing variety, yielding a great profusion of long, straight, and tender pods of beautiful golden waxy appearance. The stalks grow about one and a half feet high, holding the pods well off the ground, and thus keeping them clean, attractive and free from rust.

Merchants buying Beans to sell cannot make a mistake by buying this variety and recommending it to their customers.
